

Choosing your company name

What you need to know

- You need to choose a company name when you form a company.
- The name can not be identical or almost identical to another incorporated company's name.
- Always search the Companies Register to see if the name you have in mind is available.
- Registration of a company name provides limited name protection – that is, it will prevent another company being incorporated under an identical or almost identical name.

Search the Companies Register now.